World Wide Web

The Internet plays an increasing role in our daily lives. According to a study by DoubleClick's Performics (2008), 85% conduct online searches for business and personal related purchases. An additional survey conducted by SEMPO 2007 indicates that 57% of internet users consider the Internet a tool for use in making "big decisions or negotiating their way through major episodes in their life." These decisions may include purchasing a car, selecting a new residence, and making major financial decisions. As these figures increase, so will the need for businesses to possess an online presence.

At Cypress Systems, Inc., we give your business an advantage by increasing its web visibility and boosting its online presence. According to Bill Duggan, EVP for the Association of National Advertisers, "Online is playing an increasingly valuable role in marketing communications." From a single web page to a fully customizable site, Cypress Systems, Inc. delivers affordable pricing for a full spectrum of Internet solutions that help your business thrive.
